

Taking Board Governance from Good to Great

Tim Ryan and Maria Castañón Moats

It's management's job, of course, to set company strategy. But board oversight is absolutely critical, and to really get it right, many boards could be even more involved. Directors see this, and many told me so in our conversations. Specifically, boards could spend more time analyzing strategic options that were considered and rejected—not just the path that was taken. They could look to competitive intelligence and widen the aperture beyond the short- and the...

Leer más

“El IGS se propone acelerar el proceso de adecuación de la praxis de gobernanza a las cambiantes necesidades de la sociedad”

“Sustainable” Companies Face Increased Pressure

Jason Halper, Sara Bussiere y Timbre Shriver

The recent IPO for Rivian Automotive Inc., the electric pick-up truck manufacturer whose shares increased 29% on the day following the offering, resulting in an enterprise valuation of more than $86 billion – more than the market values of every other automaker except Tesla...

Leer más

Mutual Fund Stewardship and the Empty Voting Problem

Jill Fisch, University of Pennsylvania Carey Law School

When Roberta Karmel wrote the articles that are the subject of this symposium, she was skeptical of both the potential value of shareholder voting and the emerging involvement of institutional investors in corporate governance. In the ensuing years, both the increased role...

Leer más

Using Corporate Social Initiatives to Build a Purpose-Driven Organization

Christiane Bode, Imperial College London

In addition to creating value in the marketplace, companies are increasingly expected to minimise their negative impacts (e.g. reducing their carbon emissions) and to proactively make the world a better place. While...

Leer más

BlackRock Investment Stewardship Global Principles

John McKinley, BlackRock Investment Stewardship

BlackRock's purpose is to help more and more people experience financial well-being. We manage assets on behalf of institutional and individual clients, across a full spectrum of investment strategies, asset classes, and regions. Our client base includes pension plans...

Leer más

Will the EU Taxonomy Regulation Foster a Sustainable Corporate Governance?

Alessio Paccos, Amsterdam Law School

EU securities regulation has established a taxonomy of environmentally sustainable activities. This article discusses, from a law and economics standpoint, the potential of this taxonomy to support a sustainable...

Leer más

Leading Climate Strategy From the Board

Ron Soaniew, Director in Residence at INSEAD

With the Glasgow Climate Pact, nearly 200 countries agreed to strengthen their targets for cutting greenhouse gas emissions. As a result, companies around the world must act – and their boards must show leadership. How have...

Leer más

